

IT'S A BIRD! IT'S A PLANE! IT'S TOMMY! Tommy Bayduza achieved liftoff and then some at last Saturday's 15th Annual Ukrainian Dance Concert, enjoyed at F. G. Miller High School, Elk Point by a huge and enthusiastic crowd.

Dance club provides 15 years of entertainment

ELK POINT PUBLIC LIBRARY

The approximate 300 people in attendance at the 15th Annual Elk Point District Ukrainian Spring Dance Concert in Elk Point Saturday night had only one question after the night's performance.

What are they going to do for an encore?

The 54 dancers' seven months off practice paid off as they jumped, spun, smiled and entertained for a lively two-hour performance.

The highlight of the evening was the finale - the Hopak - where the senior dancers performed the Ukraine's national dance.

"The seniors group is always the best," Elk Point dance club president Kathy Lovell said.

The altitude Tommy Bayduza was able to achieve would be the envy of that noted baseball player, Michael Jordan. Bayduza has been dancing with the club for the last 10 years.

But the dance that put the smile on people's faces was the performance of the Bunnies - a carrot dance involving the youngest dancers.

"We had a few technical problem with that dance but it was okay," Lovell said, with a laugh. "Everybody loves little kids so it doesn't matter."

The choreography for the performance was done by Tanya Serediak and Steve Perozak.

Travis Pankiw provided a refreshing break from the Ukrainian dancing by performing two songs that he had written.

Robin Bardoel and Tori Warawa of the Vermilion School of Dance provided some lively jazz dances.

The Elk Point Ukrainian Dancers are:

Senior -- Melanie Malachowski, Tommy Bayduza, Leslie Hillebrand, Michelle Hillebrand, Dorothea Naber, James Babenek, Kathy Kozina and Charissa Brown.

Adult -- Kathy Lovell, Donna Yaremkevich, Terrie Donaldson and Joan Palamarek.

Managing yourself ~ assertive behavior

Assertiveness: "Today, I'm going to be assertive ... if it's 'ok' with you".

How many of you have had trouble saying no to a salesman, bought something you really didn't want, or been railroaded into volunteering for something you really don't have time for? All of us have experienced these situations at some time and that's ok, we're human. Here are some helpful ideas on how to be more assertive without being rude or aggressive:

Assertiveness is ... Standing up for rights and expressing feelings ... in honest, open, appropriate and direct ways, which do not violate another person's rights.

Non-Assertion is ... Violating your rights through failure to express feelings, thoughts and beliefs. It is permitting others to violate your rights.

Aggression is ... Standing up for rights and expressing feelings in a manner which violates another person's rights.

Assertive Behavior: Ideas to Keep in Mind

1. Assertive behavior is often confused with aggressive behavior however, assertion does not involve hurting another person physically or emotionally.
2. Assertive behavior aims at equalizing the "balance of power", not in "winning the battle" by putting down another person or rendering him/her helpless.
3. Assertive behavior involves expressing your legitimate rights as an individual. You have a right to express your own wants, needs, feelings and ideas.
4. Remember: Other individuals have a right to respond to your assertiveness with their own wants, needs, feelings and ideas.
5. An assertive encounter with another individual may involve negotiating an agreeable compromise.

6. By behaving assertively, you open the way for honest relationships with others.

7. Assertive behavior not only is concerned with what you say, but how you say it.

8. Assertive words accompanied by appropriate body language makes your message more clear and impactful.

9. Assertive body language includes the following: a) maintaining direct eye contact; b) maintaining an erect posture; c) speaking clearly and audibly; d) using facial expressions and gestures to add emphasis to your words.

10. Assertive behavior is a skill that can be learned and maintained by frequent practice.

How to say "No"

1. Begin with a clear, firm voice. Say "NO".
2. Don't send "double messages".
3. Practice and be prepared.
4. Sort issues. Don't get side-tracked.
5. Use "selective ignoring".

We Are Looking For People Who Babysit Privately in Their Own Homes

Are you a "mom" who stays at home and looks after children other than your own during the working day? Or, are you a "mom" who is having another "mom" look after your children during the working day?

Any person may look after three extra children other than their own during the working day and do it on a private basis. However, if you would like to find out the benefits of becoming an approved FAMILY DAY HOME PROVIDER with Elk Point Child Care Services while caring for children other than your own during the working day, or if you would like to learn about the benefits of having someone to care for your child during the working day, give us a call. You may call Deanna Easthope, Coordinator of Elk Point Child Care Services at 724-3933 or leave a message at 724-3800.

The family forum

Jim MacLellan

Working moms are homemakers too! Mothers admit that generally children try to push out any and every system that you ever had in place. Along with a lack of a "system" arrives a tremendous amount of guilt. Take this guilt, multiply many times over and you have a "working mom!" Your spouse, your children, your church, your whatever seems to suffer - just because you have a job!

Let me offer you some "management" concepts that will help reduce that stress. First of all, try to imagine your day like an agenda of a business meeting. Like any efficient manager, you try to do the most important things first. But like any business meeting, you can never cover all the items in the available time. If the less-important things don't get done - that's normal! Don't lose any sleep; and especially don't live in guilt. Some of the most effective managers fail to accomplish the lower priority items. P. S. That's good business!

There is no such thing as a non-working mother.
—Hester Mundis

Secondly, any good executive knows that the key to survival is DELEGATION. Moms, mobilize the troops! Now, let me be transparent with you for a moment. I dislike vacuuming, dishes, dusting etc. with a passion. My male ego goes through mental gymnastics every time I do such things. But guess what? My "maleness" is still intact - life goes on! Moms - mobilize the militia!

Thirdly, be realistic. We will all sympathize with you if by some fluke of circumstance, Home and Garden decides to visit your home and do an article on it but until then, settle for good... rather than excellent. Also, if you want the kids and the Big Kid to help, give them some liberty to do things their way. They'll probably enjoy it more often.

Working moms tend to require the skill of executives, the prowess of diplomats and the shrewdness of a military commander. Happy Mother's Day, working moms! You're homemakers too!

"Her children arise up and call her blessed."
—Proverbs 31:28

Renovation Loans

Adding value to your home

J. Lang Ellison BComm BSc (Agric.) PAg
Manager, Toronto Dominion Bank, Elk Point

While Canada's real estate market has been depressed in the past few years, the home renovation and improvement market has been growing strongly. Increasing numbers of Canadians have recognized the advantage of renovating rather than devoting the time, trouble and expense to building a new home, selling their existing one, paying for moving costs, and uprooting themselves from a familiar neighborhood.

Through renovation projects, you may be able to convert your house into your dream home, with additions and upgrades, modern kitchens and bathrooms, new windows and siding, fireplaces and landscaping... And through renovation loans, you may be able to afford to convert your dream into a reality immediately. Borrowing makes sense for many people, because it can be much more cost effective to do several related renovation and improvement projects at once - rather than one at a time over a number of years -

- more cost-effective, and less disruptive to your household.

Financing is widely available for home renovations and restoration projects, because they add value to your home, which may well be your family's principal asset.

Most people undertaking major renovation projects decide to interview several different contractors, architects and skilled tradespeople, to ensure they assemble the best renovation team at the best value. You should consider your banker as part of your team as well - and check with different financial institutions to get the best lending product with the best terms and rates to meet your needs. In a competitive lending marketplace, selected banks and financial institutions may have special incentives and rate reductions, designed specifically for home renovations.

Check out what's available, and ask your banker to show you how a personal renovation loan or a personal line of credit secured by the equity in your home can help you achieve your goals. Or feel free to call TD's Green Infoline at 1-800-387-2092.

Masonic Lodge welcomes community

St. George's Masonic Lodge held an open house for the community on Sunday, at which the mysteries of the age-old society were explained to the public.

The Ancient, Free and Accepted Masons (AFAM) trace their history back to the trade guilds of the twelfth century, when England's enormous cathedrals were being constructed. The square, rule, compass, plumb and gavel of their craft became symbols of their society. In those days, 'Free' indicated that the guild members could choose their own job sites and travel from one to another, they were free from paying taxes, and possibly they worked with a type of stone called 'freestone.' 'Accepted' refers to the time at which members were accepted into the craft, and / or they were able to learn the morals and 'secrets' as speculative masons without learning the craft itself.

St. George's Lodge takes its name from Fort George, the Hudson's Bay Company fur trading post established in 1792. The Lodge started in April, 1952, and originated from St. Alban's Lodge in St. Paul, which has since ceased to exist. Pioneer physician F. G. Miller was one of the key individuals in St. George's early days. The lodge enjoyed a variety of social functions, including Dine the Ladies Nights and bonspiels, and still continue their custom of presenting awards to high school students. The current Worshipful Master is Jay Byr.

Elk Point also had an Order of the Eastern Star Lodge, for wives of Masons, for many years, however this group surrendered their charter some years ago. In some communities, the Masonic Lodge has youth components: the DeMolay for boys and Rainbow or Job's Daughters for girls. The Masons feel that involving their families in the lodge is important.

Lodge Chaplain Bob McRae explained the meaning of the Masonic symbol, which is a compass with its points touching the ends of a builder's square, with a 'G' in the centre. "You can't build without a compass and a square," McRae said, adding that this has one meaning in the way a lodge member deals with other people: squarely. "The 'G' may stand for God, and reminds us to keep God in mind."

He said that the Lodge has three kinds of secrets: first, the passwords, which are steeped in history, then their business dealings, which are kept confidential, and thirdly, "a secret by default - what Masonry means to its members... because it's hard to explain."

There are three degrees of knowledge which the Lodge members move through, with the final stage being the "third degree" when the members are most knowledgeable.

The Masonic Lodge has principles of brotherly love, fraternity, truth, a rewarding life, and charity. Through this charity they help all ages of people who need their assistance, whether through children's hospitals, seniors facilities or medical research.

ANCIENT SYMBOL - Bob McRae explains the symbolism of the Masonic emblem at Sunday's Open House.

SIT AND STAY - Dogs and their handlers take part in last Wednesday's Dog Obedience Training final examinations.

Dogs graduate from obedience classes

Sixteen members of the Dog Obedience Course took part in their Graduation Exercises last Wednesday evening, with Grizzly, a Bouvier des Flandres owned by Roberta Nielsen placing first in the judging. Wiley, a second Nielsen Bouvier, placed second, while Josie Veer's crossbred, Goliath, was third.

The evening of tests proved that all the dogs and handlers were winners in their own right, having learned the proper behavior on and off the leash.

A total of 22 dogs were registered in the 8 weeks of lessons, five of the dogs coming from the 4-H Canine Project. The course, instructed by Frank Midgley of Marwayne, was put on by Elk Point Further Education. The course was held at the Elk Point Bus Depot, with the cooperation of Sandy Henderson.

Participant Hughie Krucik, who said that "Obedience trained dogs are a joy to live with," says local dog owners hope to have another course in the fall of 1994.

There's a fine line between safe and sorry.

Electricity is a fact of life. In fact, it's so much a part of everyday life that people forget the potential for accidents. Any contact with overhead power lines or exposed wires can cause serious injury. And underground power lines are equally dangerous to anyone who digs without locating them. Understanding how electricity works can keep you, and those close to you, safe. When it comes to electricity, what you don't know can hurt you. Time to hit the golf course!

Elk Point Golf and Country Club is gearing up for another season, with Art Britton heading the 1994 executive.

Something new and innovative has been added to the schedule, with Fun Night every Wednesday for couples and individuals. Every week there will be some unique golfing activity to enjoy. This will replace the Men's League which traditionally had the Wednesday night slot, due to a decline in the number of Men's League golfers.

Fun Night kicks off Wednesday, May 11, with Registration Night. Bring your own steak for a barbecue, and the fixings will be supplied. Then enjoy a Texas Scramble.

Heinsburg ESSO holds grand opening

Heinsburg's newest business owners are Cindy and Ray (often known as Gabe) Dumont, formerly of Elk Point, who took over the former Double J Gas and Grocery recently. They held their Grand Opening last weekend, with lots of customers and a friendly tiger on hand for the gala event.

This is a store with a lot to offer. In addition to gasoline, tires and auto repairs, they offer a full line of groceries and produce, snacks, slurpies, hard ice cream cones, and fresh coffee. For the camper and fisherman approaching Whitney Lakes Provincial Park, they have camping supplies such as bug spray and briquettes, fishing supplies, live bait and (very soon) fishing licences. You can even get some fireworks to celebrate a special occasion, a movie rental or a magazine for a quiet evening at home, garden seeds, Watkins products, and Heinsburg hats and t-shirts as a souvenir of your visit. The Dumonts operate a pawn shop on the premises, and are looking forward to having a liquor outlet as well in the near future.

What's News at the Library?

Have a Very Happy Mother's Day!

This Sunday is Mother's Day, the one day a year we usually do something nice for our mothers. Last year my brothers and I decided to give our Mom a variation on the traditional breakfast in bed. All four of us got up before noon (a rare occurrence on a Sunday) and joined our parents for brunch. She was shocked, but pleased. The Elk Point Public Library has several cookbooks available for those who want to surprise Mom with their prowess in the kitchen. (Don't forget to clean up after you're done.

That's the best present of all.) We have recently received a box of large print books on loan from the St. Paul Library. Some of the titles include: Alexandra Ripley's sequel to Gone With The Wind, titled Scarlett; The Time Of The Hunter's Moon by Victoria Holt; Showdown In Sonora by Gordon D. Shirreffs; and The Manuscript Murders by Roy Harley Lewis.

NEW BOOKS:

Fans of country music will want to read Reba: My Story by Reba McEntire. Reba covers her life from childhood to the present, tracing the early start of her career, the breakup of her first marriage, her happy second marriage and the tragic 1991 plane crash that killed her manager and several band members. More than 140 photographs complement the text.

Frederick Forsyth has returned with a novel that takes place amid the turmoil and intrigue of the Persian Gulf War, The Fist Of God. When British intelligence learns that the Mossad once had a mole in the highest levels of Saddam Hussein's government, they send Major Mike Martin into Baghdad to establish contact with this spy. Martin must risk his life to discover the whereabouts of Hussein's ultimate weapon.

DID YOU KNOW? William Huskisson, a former member of the British Parliament, was the first person ever killed by a train when, on September 15, 1830, he fell beneath the engine at a celebration of the Liverpool - Manchester Railway's inaugural run.

Card of Thanks

The family of Bud Long would like to thank Dr. Ramful and the staff of the Elk Point Hospital for their kindness and compassion. We would also like to extend our gratitude to Rev. S. Donaldson, the choir, and the ladies that made lunch. It is apparent to us why Dad chose to live among the people of Elk Point and District.

Sincerely - John & Anna Robertson

Elementary students present fine arts night

SNOW WHITE MEETS THE DWARFS - The seven bearded woodsmen offer a home to the dainty miss, played by Meghan O'Neill (centre).

THIS EXAM'S A NIGHTMARE! And Allan (Kevin Frankiw, centre) crammed all night, too!

OPTOMIST CLUB SPEAKOFF MEDALISTS - Congratulations to Elk Point Elementary's second place winners in the Annual Optomist Club speak-offs in Edmonton, April 22. Public speaking coach Bernice Capjack is proud of these contestants: (left to right) Alec Richard and April Gusnowski, Grade 4; Carlen Mutch, Grade 5; Brian Poitras and Chris Ockerman, Grade 4.

Elk Point Elementary School students presented a very enjoyable night of drama, music and public speaking on Wednesday, April 27, with an enthusiastic crowd on hand for the performance. Dorielle Richard and Tanya Pankiw were Mistresses of Ceremonies.

First on the program was the old favorite fairy tale, "Snow White," which featured two stars in the roles of both Snow White and the Wicked Queen, and a bevy of seven bearded dwarfs who welcomed the lovely young lady to their home.

Three public speakers then had their say. James Purdy gave an entertaining discourse on his multiple-personalities horse, Brewmaster, while both April Gusnowski and Vickie Jamieson spoke on Optimism. April was one of the participants in the Optomist Club Public Speaking in Edmonton April 22. Vickie was also scheduled to take part in that event, but was unable to do so at the last minute.

Blind dates are often a little difficult to handle. "Bench 18," the second drama presentation of the evening, told about a couple who had only met through their letters, who were slated to find each other on a bench in Markstad Park one spring evening.

The Grade 4 to 6 Choir, directed by Don Buryn, then offered a special song for the Year of the Family.

Grade 3 students Michelle Friesen, Charlene Brown and Heather Krissa were the next public speakers, reciting "The Spider and the Fly." Alec Richard and Brian Poitras were two more speakers on the "Optomism" topic.

Some days just start off better than others, don't they? "Jimmy's Lucky Morning" featured Levi May as Dad, Vickie Jamieson as Mom and Carlen Mutch as Jani, in an entertaining story.

The importance of families was the theme of the next play, which was entitled "We Meet Again."

The Grade 4 to 6 Choir also followed the Year of the Family theme, with "Would You Bless Our Homes and Families" and "Kids For Saving the Earth."

Final Exam time is coming up, and the next number showed Allan cramming for "The Test." He studies right until he falls asleep, and then has nightmares about the upcoming test. He wakes up just in time for a phone call from the principal, to tell him his marks are so high he doesn't need to take the test.

A final Optimist speaker, Carlen Mutch, presented flowers to Public Speaking coach Bernice Capjack. Mrs. Mabel Dumont and Principal Don Conrad also assisted with coaching. Darcy Ockerman gave a hilarious recitation of "Mother Doesn't Want a Dog."

Just where is the best seat in the house? The sister and brother-in-law of one local political hopeful take so long to find that out that they upstage the politician in the final play of the evening, "The Best Seat."

Three of the evening's plays were written by, and the other three revised by, Bernice Capjack, who also directed them, with the assistance of Mrs. Bintz. The final five plays starred the Grade 4 to 6 students.

Art created by the students was also on display, and was enjoyed by the audience during the coffee session which followed the entertainment.
